Gen. New's Big Day.
Foaming Beer, Full Pocket
It Ended Happily
Sad for Burglars

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

WHEN Postmaster General New wisely reduced air mail charges to five cents for a one-ounce letter it was asserted here that advertisers help our service and attract attention by mailing the air mail.

ORDINARY advertising by mail is waste. It costs five to forty times more than newspaper or magazine advertising per person reached. In addition, advertising mail matter is usually thrown into the waste basket. But everybody opens an air mail letter, thinks about it, reads what's in it. Use air mail in your business and promote flying.

THOMAS F. HEELEY tells Cyrus H. C. Clegg that the fight between Hoover and Smith is a fight between the foaming beer bucket and the full dinner pail.

The beer bucket is a big issue undoubtedly, also the non-foaming beer flask. But in these days of high wages the well-furnished "full dinner pail" has lost importance.

The full POCKETBOOK is the modern issue.

THE court of Baku, Azerbaijan, is you know just where that would have supplied a plot that would have delighted Edgar Allan Poe.

A beautiful girl, very rich, was claimed to the floor in subterranean passage for four years by an uncle and cousin who wanted her money.

The uncle goes to jail for 10 years, the son for six years.

The girl will get her large fortune and marry her "penniless lover." Things do end happily, sometimes.

DISCOURAGING to industrious burglars is a new vault, typical of the times, built by the Chase National Bank. Three stories deep, the vault contains an elevator, stands on a base of land worth $5,000,000 and is entirely surrounded with reinforced concrete 12 feet thick. The bottom of this vault is 55 feet below the ground, on solid rock.

To tell how much money is in it would make the burglars TOO sad.

WOMEN, old and young, are so brave it amazes you. Any woman will run into a fire and burn to save her child. Any woman will stand between a bullet and somebody that she likes.

HERE comes Miss Nancy Glave, intelligent, young, good looking, offering to jump from an airplane every day by parachute, to help a charitable undertaking.

She never jumped in a parachute in her life. That makes no difference.

THE ILE DE FRANCE, eastbound, launched an airplane 100 miles this side of the Scilly Islands, sending important mail to Paris 15 hours ahead of the Ile de France landing.

THE French have thus established a combination ship and airplane delivery for mail, saving 30 hours on the round trip.

THIS will be remembered if we ever have a war. One plane from Europe or Asia could drop on any city Europe or Asia could drop to kill 300,000 human beings.

Turner received nothing and spent $4,005.61.

U. S. Senator Cyrus Locher, Cleveland, reported that he spent $4,223.23 in his unsuccessful campaign for the short term Democratic senatorial nomination. He received nothing.

IN seven days New York's telephone company collected $8,688 for answering "What time is it?" Those that asked the time and paid for an answer numbered 77,100.

At that rate "smiling voice" young women looking at the clock, without effort would collect for the telephone company $200,000 every year. Nickels count in his things.

Get a reliable timepiece.

WINDSOR, ONTARIO, witnesses swear that Canada's sun king, who does his ruling from Detroit, on the American side, spends $10,000 a month "for sales promotion."

SALES promotion is sometimes described as "watering the flowers." It means handing money to those that COULD interfere with you if they wanted to, but don't when the flowers are properly watered.

MORE business failures in Italy, 6,016 of them in six months.

Business men blame their troubles on the high price of lire, stabilized by Mussolini. He wanted to make Italian money more valuable, to help Italian people.

Business people say, "We need cheap money, that we may hire labor for less REAL money and thus compete with other nations."

France, stabilizing the franc at 1 cent below the lire, has helped France business.

WALKS IN SLEEP AND DROPS 30 FEET IN FALL

Cleveland, Aug. 24.—Nineteen-year-old Jacob Morris was reported recovering rapidly at a hospital today from injuries he suffered in a 30-foot fall during a nocturnal prowl last night. The boy walked in his sleep, and stumbled through an open window.

FRIENDS DOUBT RADIO MESSAGE WAS GENUINE

Assert Neither Hassell nor Cramer Was Real Operator

RECEIVED BY SEVERAL

Danish Government Pushes Investigation into Report Plane Was Seen

Chicago, Aug. 24.—That the messages reported by amateur radio operators at Chicago and Toledo, purporting to have been received from Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer, missing Illinois-to-Sweden fliers, could not have been genuine, was stated here today by friends of the fliers who stated that neither Hassell nor Cramer was a radio operator.

An amateur at Toledo, and another at Chicago, reported almost identical messages, stating "we are safe but running short of food," and giving the fliers' location as an island 50 to 100 miles north of Newfoundland.

It was said that Cramer merely learned location letters, to give the plane's position from time to time, but that he could not send long messages such as those reported.

Later it was learned that this same letter had been picked up by amateurs in New York and Detroit.

Radio experts here believe some one with a grim sense of humor is broadcasting the fictitious message.

Food Reported Low

"We are safe, but food is getting low and we are using generator for communication. Our position is on a small island near Newfoundland."

This was the gist of the message which Rufus Harris declared he received at his station, KCEJ, about 12:30 o'clock this morning.

Harris said that he sent a C. Q. (general inquiry) message and received an answer on a wave length of 42.0 meters.

According to Harris the call letters WIAH were used and the location of the transmitters was established as about 50 miles off the Newfoundland coast. A promise to "call tomorrow" was given in the sign off which added: "Regards to all."

PUSH INVESTIGATION

Two Villages Report Seeing Plane Flying Low Sunday

Copenhagen, Aug. 24.—Hops for the safety of Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer, American aviators who became lost while attempting a flight from the Big Island pk. Her parents, G. M. and Lucinda Garrett, Walters, were both originally from Galia county.

Surviving her are the husband, parents, seven children, Elmer, Ruth, James, Marie, Grace, Harla and Mary McCluskey, at home, and two sisters, Mrs. Ella Lyle, of Cleveland, and Miss Mary Walters, at home with the parents, and three brothers, Ether Walters, Spencer st., C. M. Walters Jr. and J. E. Walters, 702 Congress and Carl Walters, at home with the parents.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

G. O. P. COMMITTEE TO MEET SATURDAY

Session Called by Chairman B. J. Shelton To Effect County Organization

The Marion county Republican central committee will organize for the fall campaign at a meeting to be held in the common plane court room in the courthouse at 7:30 o'clock Saturday night.

Announcement of the meeting was made today by Bert J. Shelton, chairman.

Besides discussing plans for the coming campaign the committee will elect a chairman. Shelton has served as chairman for the past four years.

The Democratic county central committee is expected to meet and organize early next week.

Seventeen-Year-Old Nursemaid Accomplishes Feat; Enters on French Side

Dover, England, Aug. 24.—Miss Hilda Sharp, a 17-year-old London nurse maid, came ashore at Shakespeare Cliff near here at 3:32 p. m. today, having swum the English channel from Cape Griz Nez, France.

She entered the water on the French coast at 12:30 a. m.

FESS RETURNS

Senator Bessie Bessie To Center Town State

Washington, Aug. 24.—Missouri, Wisconsin, Montana, and Nevada will be the chief battlegrounds in the west of this year's presidential campaign.

Thus said Senator Fess, Republican of Ohio, today, as he departed for home to conduct an active Hoover campaign there.

These are the only western states in which he conceded the Democratic a chance.

He predicted the so-called solid west would remain Democratic.

"Not that doesn't include the border states of Tennessee, Kentucky, and Oklahoma, which I think will be solidly Democratic."

Frances, stabilizing the franc at 1 cent below the lire, has helped France business.

Civil War Vets Wedding is Event at G. A. R. Picnic

AN interesting feature of the annual Civil War veterans' picnic yesterday at Garfield park was the marriage of Mrs. Louise Grimes, 80, of Marion, and Huron Nogee, 80, of Paulding, a veteran. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Wiley S. Young, pastor of First Memorial Baptist church, grandson of Commander Charles Wiley of Cooper Post, No. 117, Grand Army of the Republic.

The outing was attended by about 150 veterans, including 20 veterans of Cooper post, and members of Cooper Woman's Relief Corps, Harriette Beecher Stowe Tent, No. 48, Daughters of Veterans, and Captain Harris' circle, No. 85, G. A. R. The organizations in charge of the program.

After dinner, served at noon, the program opened with music by the drum corps, Colonel G. B. Christian, provided as master of ceremonies. The principal addresses of the afternoon were given by Dr. George T. Harding, father of the late President Harding, and by Mrs. Helen Votaw, of Washington, D. C., daughter of Dr. Harding.

William McKinley, of Prospect, led in singing of "America," after which short talks were given by Colonel Christian, Mrs. Alice Dunmore, past president of the corps and by Mrs. Ethel Neal, president of the corps. Little Miss Thelma Kramer gave a recitation. Comrade Francis Layton and Comrade G. W. Baldwin sang.

Guests of the G. A. R. were Mr. and Mrs. Helen Votaw of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Dr. George T. Harding II and son, Charles Harding, of Washington, D. C.

Nominee for Governor Predicts Democratic Victory
This Fall as He Addresses State Convention at Columbus; Praises Smith and Robinson

STANDS FOR HONEST LAW ENFORCEMENT

Meeting Gets Under Way with Brunner as Chairman; Temporary Organization Completed; District Delegates Caucus Before Sessions Open

Columbus, Aug. 24.—For the purpose of complying with the statutory mandate calling for adoption of a state platform and the nomination of candidates for president and vice president of the United States, stating his personal position on law enforcement and farm relief, and predicting Democratic victory, national and state, this fall, Congressman Martin L. Davey, Kent, Democratic candidate for governor of Ohio, delivered the keynote address this afternoon at the Democratic state convention.

As temporary chairman, Henry G. Brunner, Mansfield, chairman of the Democratic state campaign committee and manager of the Democratic campaign in the Buckeye state, this fall, called the convention to order in the Neil house ballroom.

Delivery of the "keynote" address of the present state campaign by Congressman Martin L. Davey, prominent Chicago department store owner, has issued a bizarre ultimatum. She refuses to have a formal debut and society career, choosing, instead, to join her father's business next Fall.

HOLD DISTRICT CAUCUSES

The temporary organization of the convention included William M. Gableman, Portsmouth, secretary; Marie E. McCarty, Columbus, executive secretary; Carl Stander, Mansfield, sergeant-at-arms, and the Rev. N. W. Simpson, Columbus, chaplain.

Music was furnished by the Franklin County Democratic Women's chorus.

The order of business provided for adoption of state platform, including adoption of the platform form; then the nomination of presidential electors, to be followed by the address of candidates.

The delegates to the convention, chosen by congressional districts this morning and selected the members of the standing committees on credentials, permanent organization, rules and order of business, and on platform and resolutions, these standing committees went into session and prepared their reports for submission to the convention this afternoon.

KELLOGG ARRIVES IN PARIS FOR PARLEY

Secretary of State Looks Forward To Visiting Ireland on His Trip

Paris, Aug. 24.—Frank B. Kellogg, American secretary of state, who came to France to sign the treaty outlawing war, arrived here today from Havre at 10 o'clock. The American diplomat was met at the station by representatives of the French government.

Mr. T. Herkirk, the United States ambassador, accompanied the French to the railway station to meet Secretary Kellogg. The secretary had luncheon with the ambassador after which he paid an informal call upon the French foreign secretary, Aristide Briand. Later Secretary Kellogg received representatives of the press when he spoke of his plans for visiting Ireland.

"I have been in Europe many times and was even the American ambassador to England, but I never visited Ireland," said Mr. Kellogg. "That is a visit I am looking forward to with a great deal of pleasure."

SHOVEL CO. PICNIC PLANS COMPLETED

All Park Attractions To Be Free to Employees and Families Saturday

The annual picnic of employees of the Marion Steam Shovel Co. and their families, will be held Saturday afternoon at Crystal Lake park.

About 7,000 strips of tickets have been printed, and will be good for free admission on all of the concessions, free dancing and free refreshments.

From 1 until 2 o'clock the Marion Steam Shovel band will give a band concert. The amusements, including the Custer auto ride, merry-go-round, children's airplane, roller coaster, old mill, airplane swing, and shooter, will start at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and operate until midnight.

Peanuts, crackerjack, and cold drinks will be exchanged for tickets presented at the stands.

Various candidates, some active and others receptive, mentioned for G. O. P. campaign manager include:

Congressman James T. Berg, Mansfield, who was runner-up in the contest which resulted in the election of Myers Y. Cooper, Cincinnati, as the Republican gubernatorial nominee; Attorney Thad H. Brown, Columbus, who managed the Hoover preliminary campaign in Ohio last spring; and Charles Frickerick, Columbus, who directed the G. O. P. state campaign.

DELAY EXPECTED

Werner, Ladd, and Fess, and Alfred Fess, all of whom are candidates for the gubernatorial election, are reported to be in the field.

Under there is a marked change in weather conditions, and the weather is expected to be very bad.

Roy Del Ruth, whose direction of "The Terror" pleased the Warner studio, will handle the megaphone.

RUTH CHATTERTON'S golden voice is to be put into the films. Ruth, who has acted silently with Cliff Janney these many weeks, and whose voice lends itself exceptionally well to the sound device, has been persuaded by Jesse L. Lasky to make the first all-talking picture for Famous. Negotiations are now on for a well known novel—and, if the sale is completed, that will be Ruth's first talkie. Roy Pomeroy will direct her and William de Mille will write the scenario and stay close on the job to watch proceedings. They must have expected just such a thing to happen at Paramount, for, some weeks ago, Ruth was asked to make a voice test, which she did with satisfactory results.

GEORGE K. ARTHUR returns from his native England without a pauper, walking stick or monocle. But he did return with $1,000 won on a pool on the boat, and a readiness to return to work. That last little line comes true immediately, for everything is in readiness for the next George Arthur-Kurt Dane comedy. It is to be called "All at Sea" and will again have "Chuck" Reisinger directing. "Chuck," by the way, was just about to get himself another job when Louis B. Mayer and the rest of the M-G-M bosses urged him to stick. They all like the last Arthur-Dane comedy, which they tell me has plenty of good laughs.

THEY all say that the studios are running full blast, but it does not seem to me there are as many companies working as there were a few weeks ago. At the Paramount lot Louise Brooks, Richard Dix, and the rest of that company were getting ready to leave for Gallup, N. M., where scenes for "Redskin," will be shot. In Northern Arizona, where this film will be produced, the heat will fry an egg on the pavement, but fall will soon be here. Ruth Elder is finishing up her first movie, and if she photographs as well as she looks in real life, she ought to be a satisfactory screen asset. Evelyn Brent worked all day at the University of California and admitted that she was tired. Bebe Daniels sends word to friends out here that she is having one grand, glorious time at Great Neck, where she is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Meighan.

INDIVIDUAL INSTRUCTION IN COLLEGE

You cannot turn out a man as you would an automobile—by machinery. Man is essentially a thinking being, and thinking is primarily an individual process. That is why a junior college provides such a splendid start in the gaining of a liberal education. It can give that careful personal attention from wise teachers which is so necessary in laying the foundation for the student's later specialized interests.

The freshman and sophomore years are the years when the student is developing his own ideals for life and his background of general knowledge. Later, when he is drawn into the machinery of the larger institutions, with something akin to the hurry and bustle of a great manufacturing plant, the habit of individual and independent thinking gained in the early Junior College days will stand him in good stead.

Young people at the junior college age have peculiar needs which only such small colleges can provide. For this reason the junior colleges have the support of many of the large institutions of learning, for these realize how impossible it often is, in the crowded conditions of their own underclasses, to give the individual attention the students need.

The Junior College of Urbana University is especially equipped to give that individual care and attention which means so much at the beginning of the college days.

For further information write Urbana University, Urbana, Ohio.—Adv.

THEATER TO MAKE AWARDS SATURDAY

Prize Tickets Offered Boys and Girls by Grand Management

Ten Marion boys and girls will receive prizes at the Grand Theater Saturday which will entitle them to see the entire show at the Grand for the next 12 Saturdays. Other ticket prizes will also be given out at time to additional children.

Manager Shuey is to award the 10 prizes to the boys and girls who belong to the theater not later than 12:30 noon Saturday, the best collections of jungle animals cut out of the funny paper magazine or advertisements. This plan is offered by Manager Shuey in connection with the showing at the Grand of the chapter play, "Tarzan the Mighty," which opens Saturday and shows Saturday and Sunday matinees only for the next 12 weeks.

The cut-out animals should be pasted on a large piece of paper and the name and address of the owner written on it plainly. This paper may be rolled for convenience if necessary. Names of winners will be posted in the theater lobby by 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon of this week. There will be other prizes of five tickets good for three shows and 10 tickets good for Saturday of this week only.

SUMMER HOTTEST PARIS HAS KNOWN IN 17 YEARS

Paris—The hottest summer Paris has seen for seventeen years does not seem to dampen the ardor of American artists who are living in the capital. The end of what is called the season of art exhibitions is remarkable for the number of shows of the works of artists from the other sides of the water.

At the Zek Gallery, near St. Germain des Pres and the celebrated "Deux Magots" cafe where all Americans drink their morning coffee, Louis Lezwick, a young American who has travelled all over the world and notably Soviet Russia, is showing his idea of the United States from whence he hails. There are landscapes and views of cities in their most picturesque character, together with profiles or silhouettes of machines, such as "The Crane," "The Drawbridge," and a splendid "Port of Hoboken."

Roland Stewart, Professor at Wicoson University has wandered through Europe and Northern Africa and put down his impressions in charming pictures of pleasant coloring which he is exhibiting at the Berthe Jeune Gallery.

Daisy Hughes is another American artist who has been in Northern Africa and her paintings are to be seen in the Galerie George Petit.

STEAM SHOVEL WINS OVER RAILROAD NINE; TO PLAY ELECTRICS

Playoff for Pennant Slated at Lincoln Park Next Thursday

SERIES OPENS SEPT. 4

Commercial League To Complete Play Next Week; Eagles Favored

BY KARL R. McELROY
Sports Editor, The Star

Take your choice. Pick either the Steam Shovel or C. D. & M. and fight for those two teams are going for a ride with the pennant of the Industrial ball J League.

One game played last night ended the season in the Industrial loop and as a result the Shovels and Electric are tied for first place. Each team has won 12 contests and lost two, having a percentage of .857.

With the little world series slated in Lincoln park for Sept. 4, but two participants have been declared winners of their respective leagues. Calvary won the first church loop title while Epworth Juniors finished ahead of Sunday School league No. 2.

In the other two leagues the situation is different. The Eagles are almost certain to win the Commercial League title, but four more games remain on the schedule and they are to far out in front to be caught. The Industrial league flag rests between C. D. & M. and Steam Shovel.

The pennant winner of the Industrial loop will be settled next Thursday night at Lincoln park when the feature contest of the week will be played. Each team has plenty of backers and it looks as though a good time will be had by all.

The Shovel won a tough game last night, defeating the Hocking Valley, 2 to 1. The alleged failure of Hocking Valley player to touch second on a four base blow resulted in a contest ending in seven innings.

The Electric were idle, having been scheduled to play the Excavators.

Tonight, if the weather permits, Commercial league games will be played.

"BIG BILL" EXPECTED TO LOSE RANKING AS AMATEUR IN TENNIS

Tilden's "Defensive" Letter Looked Upon as Evidence of Star's Guilt

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Unless there is a sudden and complete reversal of opinion on the part of the powers that be in the United States Lawn Tennis Association, William T. Tilden, 2nd, has played his last game of lawn tennis as a good and law-abiding amateur. Trial of the charges that Tilden violated the amateur code by writing about play in the recent English championships at Wimbledon is to be held before the executive committee of the U. S. L. T. A. here tonight, and it is a foregone conclusion among those in touch with the situation that there is only one chance in a thousand that "Big Bill" will be declared guilty and permitted to continue in action.

While Tilden is in a "defensive" letter to Samuel A. Collom, president of the association, denied that he had violated the rule as charged this is regarded as a purely technical defense. The evidence is looked upon as conclusive that the defendant is guilty as charged.

What is hurting Tilden most in the preliminary discussion of his case before trial is that he is running away from a fight by refusing to attend the hearing and make his reply to the charges in person. Such action is not in keeping with "Big Bill's" usual method of doing things, for in the past there has never been any trouble in keeping him out of a fight. Now he has retreated to Boston to await the verdict.

Tilden's present troubles date back to a series of articles which he wrote in England commenting as he called it, on the play of the American Davis Cup team in the Wimbledon championships. Dr. Summer Hardy of the California association, a member of the executive committee, after reading the articles in San Francisco paper presented charges to the amateur rule committee of the association that the Tilden stories violated the code.

REPLACEMENTS RUSHED TO FRONT

MANAGERS PREPARE FOR CLOSING ATTACK ON LEAGUE PENNANTS

St. Louis Cardinals Take Lead as Giants Split with Pirates

REDS WIN TWO

Athletics Gain on New York Yankees by Defeating Cleveland

BY LES CONKLIN

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—With the National league pennant race developing into the hottest fight in years and the Athletics slowly but surely gaining on the Yankees in the American league, managers on both sides today were rushing replacements to the front-line trenches.

Tom Zachary, Washington southpaw, was signed from Washington by the Giants for the waiver price of $7,500, to be used by Manager Huggins as a starting pitcher until Pennock recovers from his sprain.

Huggins is also dickered for a right-hander from the minors. The Cardinals will recall pitcher Herman Bell from Rochester next week. Jack Keeler, back again from Toledo, aided the Giants yesterday, and Ken Ash, youthful hurler from Columbus, helped put Cincinnati in third place in his first start as a big leaguer. Ernie Lombardi, up from the American Association, is the big gun of the Cards.

Many Rookies

The lineups of all the contending clubs are sprinkled with the names of promising rookies. And the young hopefuls will do considerable damage to their clubs before their batting weaknesses are discovered.

New York fans regard the acquisition of Zachary as a favorable omen because a couple of years ago Dutch Decker, another veteran southpaw claimed from Washington, proved to be a life-saver for the Yanks.

The Giants relinquished the National League lead to St. Louis by a one-whisker yesterday by dividing a double bill with the Pirates while the Cardinals were idle. A five run rally in the eighth off Hill gave the Giants a 6 to 3 verdict in the opener. Benito and Scott twirled for New York, the former registering his twenty-first victory. Fred Russell tamed the Giants in the nightcap while the Bucks bated Carl Hubbell, Texas southpaw, and avenged the New Yorkers by a 13 to 3 score.

Make Six Doubles

The Reds clicked off six double plays, lowering their season's total to 154, downing Brooklyn twice, 2 to 0 and 1 to 1.

By beating Cleveland, 3 to 1, while the Yanks were idle, the Athletics out New York's lead to 4½ games. Letty Gove, who has lost only one game this season outside of his defeats by the Huggins, hung up his eleventh straight win and his nineteenth victory of the season. He fanned the side in the second inning on nine pitched balls and then struck out the next two batters, whiffing five men on 17 pitches.

Detroit moved into fourth place by defeating Boston, 2 to 1, as Owen Carroll turned in his fourteenth victory. The Tigers took four straight from the Red Sox by a one-run margin. Fibro Marberry held the White Sox to 4 to 3 triumph in 10 innings.

A Russian scientist claims that by use of certain chemicals he can make the inanimate bodies of men and animals transparent and invisible.

SHOWS BRITONS HIS HEELS

The above photo shows J. Anderson, track hurdler of United States Olympic team, winning the 400-metre hurdles at Stamford Bridge, Eng., in the contest between the Olympic teams of Great Britain and United States. The athlete scored heavily at Amsterdam.

Bits of Sport News

BY FRANK G. MENKE

ALMOST any kid that frolics around with a baseball for so much as a half hour these days can throw a curve ball. Yet through the first 30 years that the game endured not one of the tens of thousands who played it could throw a curve.

The exact year when the first curve was thrown and the exact identity of the first curve long has been a subject of debate—and will continue so long as baseball lasts.

Various old timers enter the names of different men as the originator of the curve. Here are the entries and among this group is the exact creator of the curve—but no man can positively know which hurler absolutely deserves the credit.

Joe Sprague (Eckford Club, Brooklyn) 1862.

Alphonse Martin (Brooklyn) 1863.

Arthur Cummings (Brooklyn Stars) 1863-64.

Bobby Mathews (Baltimore) 1866.

57.

Cummings really threw a curve, but whether Sprague or Martin heaved benders before his time is the most quib of balldom. Cummings was the axis on which the infield swings, the man who is the greatest defensive factor.

"A straight fast ball was all I ever threw until one day I slipped in making a delivery," he related. "In stumbling, my arm twisted just as I threw the ball and the result was what later was called an outcurve. It not only deceived the batter but it astonished him. So I began practicing the knack of twisting my arm as I made my delivery and very quickly I acquired the knack of throwing curves."

Importance of Shortstop

NEXT to the pitcher, the shortstop is the most vital part of a ball club," quoth Wilbert Robinson, the most covered boss of the Dodgers, who was a backstop in his leaner years. "A team that has great pitchers and a great short fielder can win a pennant no matter who else makes up the outfit.

"But if a club hasn't a great man at short it just won't get anywhere in particular because the shortstop is the axis on which the infield swings, the man who is the greatest defensive factor.

"After the pitcher and the shortstop I rate the catcher. So as I view it, if a club has good pitchers, a great shortstop and at least one real catcher the flag is half won."

RAY SCHALK received around $25,000 for back-stopping and managing the White Sox. Then he resigned and, in his letter to Charlie Comiskey, he tossed so many bouquets at Cholly for his kindly, gentle, fatherly and otherwise sweet treatment that Cholly is in danger of getting cancer of the chest from the impact of the verbal posies.

After which Cholly accepted the resignation and then, so the story goes, cut Ray's salary to $10,000.

Imagine what would have happened to Ray Schalk financially if his letter had contained a paragraph or two faying Comiskey.

Fire Destroys Warehouse and Implement Stock at Lykens

NEARBY BUILDINGS SAVED BY FIREMEN

Bloomville Department Called To Fight Blaze of Unknown Origin

MACHINERY DESTROYED

Property Owned by H. D. Miller of Bucyrus Almost Complete Loss

Bucyrus, Aug. 24.—A fire of unknown origin last night totally destroyed a warehouse and implement room at Lykens, O., owned by H. D. Miller, Bucyrus.

Neighbors detected the fire about 10:30 o'clock and before the Bloomville fire department arrived the entire building was in flames. The building could be seen from as far as Mt. Gilead.

"Not much of the stored goods was saved but the fire department is given credit for preventing the flames from spreading to a few houses close by the depot and one box car. Trains were held up temporarily.

"Miller returned from the warehouse about 8:30 o'clock last night and has no idea how the fire might have started.

"The loss of machinery could not be estimated this morning. Some of the loss was covered by insurance.

HARDIN COUNTY SCENE OF TRAFFIC MISHAPS

One Person Injured, Others Escape Unhurt, in Series of Accidents

Kenton, Aug. 24.—One person was slightly injured and several others escaped unhurt in two automobile mishaps reported south of Kenton Thursday.

Mrs. James Johnson, Lima, suffered from shock and minor cuts and bruises when the machine in which she was riding with her husband enroute home from Springfield collided with an auto driven by H. C. Nyland, salesman, Columbus, in the Roundhead district.

The Lima machine was thrown into the ditch. According to reports the mishap occurred when the steering apparatus on the Johnson car failed to work as it was passing the Columbus road.

A second mishap occurred along the Hillsdale pk., a short distance out of Kenton, when a machine driven by Anthony Cleora, Toledo, skidded on loose stone and was thrown down an eight-foot embankment into the ditch. The driver was bruised but escaped any serious injury.

J. H. Steiner, president of the Hardin County Farm Bureau, was bruised about the knee when a machine he was attempting to push out of a ditch near his home in Pleasant township, skidded backwards, striking him.

IRONTON MAN KILLED

Body of Challons Stafford Sent Home from Delaware for Burial

The body of Challons Stafford, 25, was sent to his home at Ironton for burial, from Delaware, last night. The man was killed at Powell six miles south of Delaware, yesterday by a southbound Hocking Valley freight train.

According to W. C. Wooten, also of Ironton, a companion, they came from Ironton on a northbound Hocking Valley freight, and had alighted to get some apples from an orchard when the train stopped at a water tower.

Stafford is survived by a widow and two young children, according to Wooten.

MYERS Y. COOPER IS DELAWARE SPEAKER

Addresses Kiwanis Club Members on Problems of State

Delaware, Aug. 24.—A plea for greater interest in governmental affairs on the part of the public through an intelligent use of the ballot was made by Myers Y. Cooper, Republican nominee for governor, in an address delivered here before the Delaware Kiwanis club last night.

"Every man and woman in gainful occupation pays annually a minimum of $300 in direct or indirect taxes, according to the Federal Bureau of Economic Research. This means that every producing individual within the nation is interested in the administration of state and national affairs at least to the extent of $300 annually," Cooper said.

"But our interest in reality goes further than this for with intelligent governmental management, taxes become exorbitant, stifling industry, commerce and agriculture alike; while in turn has its direct bearing upon the well-being of every citizen. On the other hand, with a sound, sensible business management of state affairs in force, 'times are good' and benefits are extended for all," he added.

Cooper declared the farmers of Ohio would be materially aided through a reorganized state department of agriculture, through the use of the same sensible methods of production and marketing that are so successful in the field of industry, and by providing good roads for all, thereby reducing transportation costs.

Carey, Aug. 24—Mrs. Mary Younger and Samuel Geiser, Jr., both of Carey, were united in marriage at the English Lutheran parsonage in Upper Sandusky Thursday afternoon. The Rev. W. H. Kibler officiated. They were unattended. Mr. and Mrs. Geiser will reside in Carey, where the former is employed with the Standard Oil Co., as truck driver.

TWO WEDDINGS

Ceremonies Feature Kenton Social Calendar During Week

Kenton, Aug. 24.—Two prominent weddings featured Kenton's social calendar during the week. One, the wedding of Miss Myra Wendt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Wendt, Kenton newspaper woman, and George W. Burkett, director of athletics in the Tiffin schools, was solemnized in the home of the bride's parents in the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends. The Rev. C. J. Yeisley, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church read the ceremony. After a honeymoon through the east Mr. and Mrs. Burkett will reside in Tiffin.

Miss Margaret Miller, of this city and Hugh Hancock of Elida, were married in the parsonage of St. John's Evangelical church. The Rev. Herbert E. Pfister read the impressive singing service. After a wedding dinner at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. J. E. Gasson, North Main st., the couple left for a motor trip through the East. They will be at home after Sept. 1 at the Andrews' apartments in Massillon.

ANNOUNCE WEDDING

Sycamore Couple Weds at Upper Sandusky Reformed Parsonage

Upper Sandusky, Aug. 24—An announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Adams, of near Sycamore, of the marriage of their daughter, Ethyl Mae, to Arthur B. Tschanner, son of William Tschanner, also of near Sycamore, which was solemnized at the Trinity Reformed parsonage in this city, Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. The Rev. George W. Good read the singing ring ceremony. There were no attendants. Both are graduates of the Sycamore high school.

A wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents, Thursday noon, after which the newlyweds left on a motor trip through the east. On their return they will reside with the bridegroom's father.

CAREY—W. T. Old High School Bell Not To Have Home in Town

GALION, Aug. 23—The bell which hung in the tower of the old West school for more than 60 years and has been the center of a controversy which has been waged for the past three years, was relegated to a future of usefulness, following a meeting of the class of 1920 which was held at the high school building last night. After summoning hundreds of students to daily classes, the old bell was removed from the building at the time the West school was torn down to make way for the present model Junior high school which occupies the same site, South Union and West Wall-morris given by many former classes.

The bell which has been the subject of the controversy is at present in storage and will never be accorded a position of honor in reward for its years of service.

FORMER RESIDENT OF MT. GILEAD DIES

Injuries Fatal to Ray Hull at Mercy Hospital, Columbus

Offers Tower

Many questions concerning the disposal of the relic of Galion's first high school were received, the first coming from the class of 1920 which offered to build for the school and city a permanent tower for the historic possession. Since that time plans have been at a standstill, older members of the Alumni association voicing serious objections to the proposed plan. A year ago the board of education granted permission to the class to erect the tower and an architect was consulted and definite plans made.

At last night's meeting the permission was retracted and after a lengthy discussion the class decided to erect ornamental lights on the campus as their memorial to the school.

Mr. Hull's death resulted from injuries received in an automobile accident Sunday night south of Columbus on the Grosvale road when he sustained a fractured skull. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wilson, of Columbus, other occupants of the car escaped with minor injuries.

Mr. Hull is survived by his widow, four daughters and one son. During his residence here he was associated with the Mt. Gilead Hardware & Implement Co.

MEN INJURED

Railroad Employees Taken to Galion Hospital After Speeder Jumps Track

Galion, Aug. 24—Lester Z. Guy and R. S. Seiter, of Coledonia, were reported as recovering today, from wounds received when the speeder they were riding jumped the track at the South Boston street crossing yesterday noon. Both men were rushed to Good Samaritan hospital where examination showed only serious bruises and scalp lacerations. Erie railroad employees who conducted an investigation found stones laid along the track and blame children for the accident.

Bell in Storage

Although the custom of classes giving a memorial to the school has long been a tradition of Galion High School, the practice will no longer be permitted, according to Mr. Monroe, who voiced disapproval of the encumbering me-

MISS MIRIAM ALLEN TO GIVE RECITAL

Galion Pianist To Be Heard in Program Sept. 6 at School Auditorium

GALLON

GALLON, Aug. 23—Music lovers of this city are looking forward with great pleasure to the piano recital to be given by Miss Miriam Allen Thursday evening, Sept. 6, in the High School auditorium.

Miss Allen spent the past year and a half in the study of piano in Berlin, under the direction of George Bertram, an eminent European artist and prior to that toured America and Europe as accompanist for Zoltko Balakovics, the famous Croatian violinist. At the present time she is spending a couple of months with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Allen in this city, after which she will return to Berlin to continue her work.

The splendid concert given in this city three years ago by Balakovics and Miss Allen was one of the few opportunities of hearing real artists, Galion has had and every son in the house was taken and those who were present are still living on the memories of that evening.

Miss Allen is a pianist of rare ability and plays with superb technique, brilliance and deep feeling.

It is with great pride that Galion people are able to present Miss Allen on this occasion and it is predicted that the auditorium will be entirely filled.

Brunner Again to Direct Ohio Democratic Campaign; Is Reelected as Chairman

Ottawa Man Named Chairman of State Central Committee; Five Members of Executive Committee Will Represent Candidates on Ticket; Sharp for Davey

Columbus, Aug. 24.—The Ohio Democratic campaign will be directed by Henry G. Brunner, Mansfield. Brunner today was receiving the congratulations of friends over his reelection as chairman of the Democratic state executive committee.

Brunner's reelection took place at Democratic state headquarters in the Neil house here last night when the newly-chosen Democratic state central committee met and organized and selected an executive committee.

Earl H. Ilanfeld, Ottawa, was elected chairman of the state central committee. Mrs. Luetta Peabody, Lorain, was chosen vice chairman and C. N. Greer, Dayton, secretary of this committee.

Miss Marie McCurry, Columbus, was selected secretary of the state executive committee.

In selecting the state executive committee, the central committee decided that in addition to one member from each of Ohio's 22 congressional districts there should be five members

MALO BROS.

W. Storer, New Matamoras; seventeenth: James Nevill, Delaware; eighteenth: John F. Nolan, Steuben; nineteenth: Lynn B. Griffith; Warren; twentieth: Mrs. Otto Jay Wright, Cleveland; twenty-first: Mrs. Rose Tener, Cleveland; twenty-second: W. B. Gongwer, Cleveland.

Announcement of members from the fifth, sixth, eleventh and sixteenth districts will be made later, it was stated. In view of the fact, that women members of the state central committee were not elected in the sixth, tenth, eleventh and nineteenth congressional districts, the committee authorized the male member from each of these four districts to select a woman from his respective district as a member of the central committee.

ALLEN REELECTED

Former Marion Pastor Retained on Church Board of Examiners

The Rev. Clinton L. Allen, of Columbus, formerly a pastor of Calvary Evangelical church, was reelected member of the board of examiners of the Ohio conference of the Evangelical church, at the ninety-first annual conference session in Toledo. The Rev. R. A. Sain, Columbus, was elected presiding elder.

Allen's three Evangelical pastors,

the Rev. E. Hadlebaugh, the Rev. H.

E. Williamson and the Rev. Irvin Kaufman are in attendance at the conference sessions, in close Sunday.

DIES OF BURNS

Worker Comes in Contact With High Tension Wire

Cochetown, Aug. 24—Custodian O. Wagon, 32, of the Newcomerstown substation of the Ohio Power Co., died in a hospital here today of burns and shock sustained late yesterday when his body came into contact with a high tension wire at the sub station. Wagon's unconscious body was discovered by J. J. Dolan, in the plant late yesterday. The custodian was revived by artificial respiration and brought here but his injuries proved fatal.

He is survived by his widow and two children.

Announcement of members from the fifth, sixth, eleventh and sixteenth districts will be made later, it was stated.

In view of the fact, that women members of the state central committee were not elected in the sixth, tenth, eleventh and nineteenth congressional districts, the committee authorized the male member from each of these four districts to select a woman from his respective district as a member of the central committee.

DRIVERS, 70 CENTS PER TON FOR CUTTING

Columbus, Aug. 24—Union mine workers throughout the state looked forward eagerly today to the early resumption of coal mining operations following the action of a joint conference of union officials and mine owners in ratifying a wage agreement here late yesterday.

This agreement provides a basic wage scale of $5 per day for drivers and 70 cents per ton for cutting and loading as forecast yesterday.

About 14 miners with a personnel of approximately 3,500 miners are affected by the new pact which dates from Sept. 1, next, and terminates March 1, 1930.

Although the number of miners thus affected is proportionately small, hope was expressed by union officials and members of the Central Ohio Coal Operators' Association, that the scale agreed to would prove acceptable to other Ohio operators.

Belief was voiced by both groups that various operators in the state would make an agreement on the basis of the new wage scale with the United Mine Workers.

While stating that the agreement was not entirely satisfactory to the miners, Lee Hall, president of the district of U. M. W. F., declared "It was the best that could be done." Hall expressed himself as highly pleased that the agreement "re-establishes the principle of collective bargaining in the district and will help toward restoring the coal industry of Ohio."

Paul Roush Accepts Position As Organist at Jackson Theater

Paul Roush, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert O. Roush, Marion av., has gone to Jackson, Mich., where he has accepted a position as organist at the Capitol theater. He also will broadcast an organ program each day between 1 and 1:30 o'clock from Station WBBM.

Mr. Roush formerly held the position of organist at the Majestic theater, Mansfield, and this summer studied with Edward Benedict, radio organist at Chicago.

ROSA HIT BY BALL

Singer Declares She Will Appear on Program, However

Lake Placid, N. Y., Aug. 24—Rosa Ponselle, dramatic soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company, insisted today that she would sing tonight at a benefit for the society for the control of tuberculosis, despite the fact that she was knocked unconscious yesterday by a sliced golf ball.

Are Pimentos Tasty?

Just try Sugardale Nippy Loaf!

HERE'S a zest and snap to the new, improved Sugardale Nippy Loaf that gives that meat a flavor wholly different from any other Ready-to-Serve Meat.

Peppy little morsels of pimento, tasty brown and white pistachio nuts and other new ingredients skillfully blended in just the right proportions with rare, spicy seasonings, make Nippy Loaf a sheer delight to weather-dulled appetites. And for sandwiches that are tasty, different and delightful it cannot be excelled.

Nippy Loaf is this week's special at all Sugardale dealers. Just ask your dealer to let you taste the red-flecked loaf—and you're sure to take some home as a pleasant surprise to your family. Or if you wish to serve a mixed meat platter make your choice from these Sugardale delicacies:

Sliced Bacon	Pressed Ham
Ham	Nippy Loaf
Boiled Ham	Meat Loaf
Hanover Ham	Ham Loaf
Wieners	Fresh Sausage
Bologna	Smoked Sausage
Minced Ham	Dried Beef
Sugardale	Windson Style

OUR MEATS SATISFY

Rugged, Happy Boyhood

—joyously alive in every muscle, eager for the coming of each new day with the experiences it brings! That's the way with the well-nourished youngster—the child who gets plenty of hearty, satisfying food.

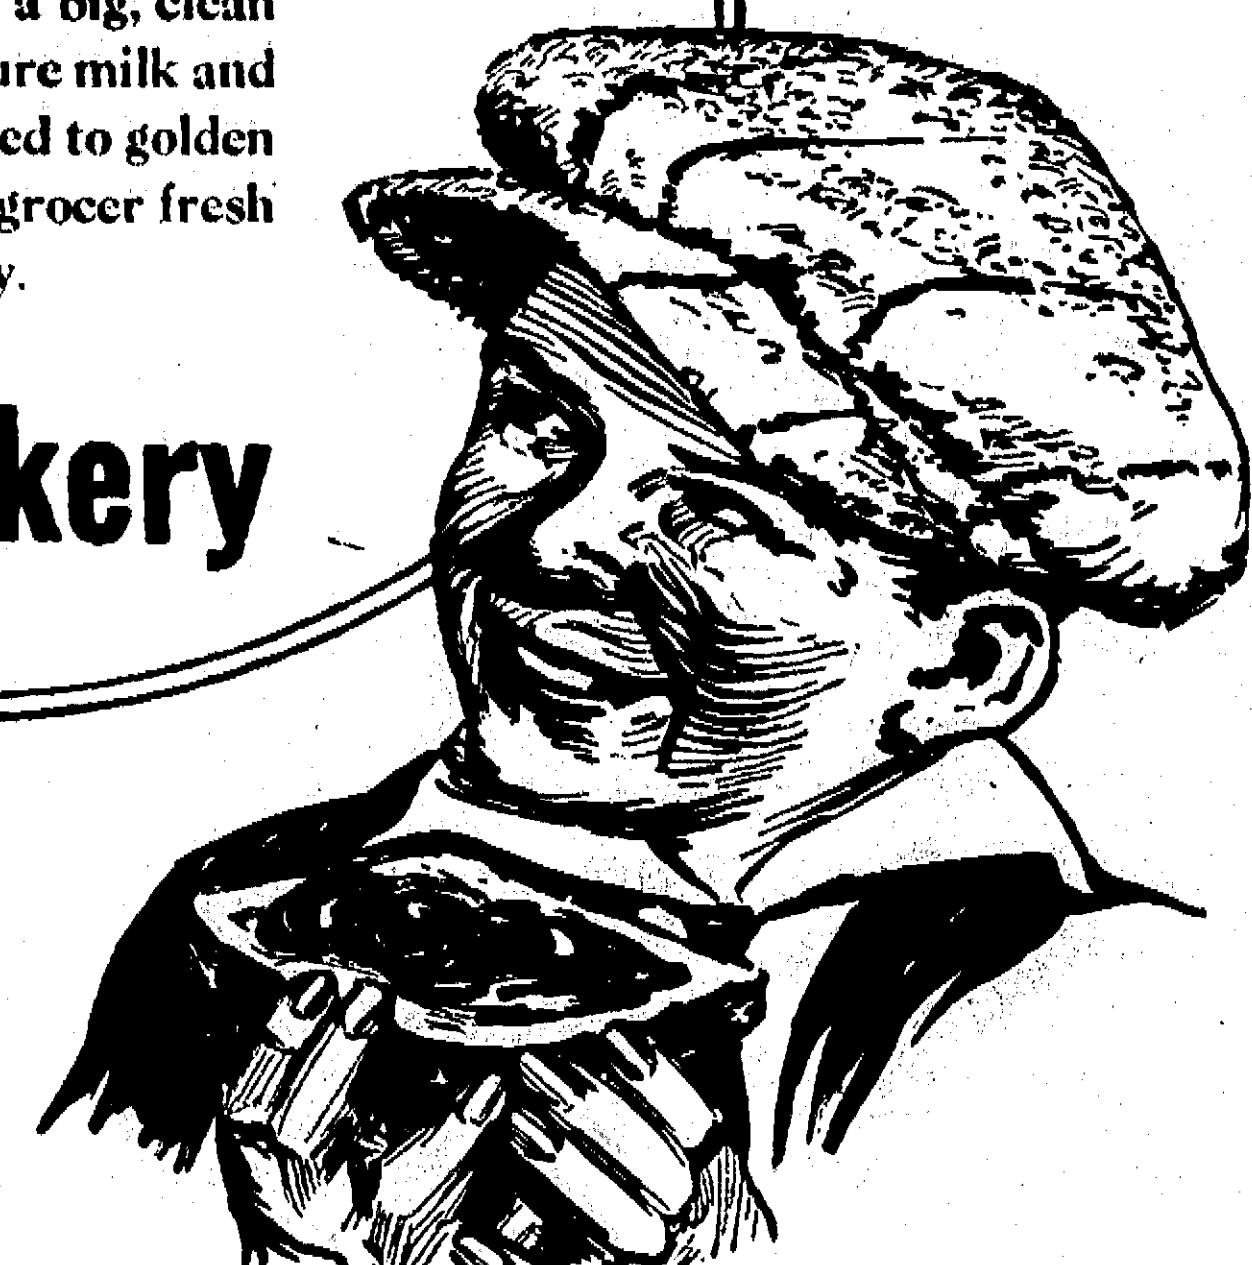

There's nothing finer for this oncoming generation than good bread, and there's no bread quite so fine as HOLSUM. In this tempting loaf are all the vital food elements that build glowing health—the valuable mineral salts, the rich proteins, and the priceless vitamins. All are here, in generous measure.

HOLSUM is made clean, in a big, clean community bread kitchen, of pure milk and other choice materials. It's baked to golden perfection, and rushed to your grocer fresh from the ovens twice every day.

LET OR DRY, SMITH IVES PARTY LIBERTY

Other Democratic Candidates Free To Fight Prohibition Change

New York, Aug. 24—Al Smith has his hope of being elected president on his demand for liberalization of the Volstead law but made it plain today that he has no intention of asking Democratic candidates for the U. S. senate or any public office to take the same.

far as Smith is concerned they will go to the store where they filed their names for membership.

Fife Band Roster Mounts to 200; Meeting Saturday

ADDITION of 98 names to the roster of the Marion Star Fife band within the last day boosted to the total enrollment to nearly 200 at noon today.

Members of the band, Marion's newest musical organization, will hold their first meeting and rehearsal Saturday morning. The youthful musicians will assemble at 10 o'clock at either the Ackerman music store, South Main st., or Dowler's store, North State st., and from there will go to a meeting with the director, due to arrive from New York City.

The band recruits will go to the store where they filed their names for membership.

Latest Recruits

The latest additions to the band are Harry Glassmeyer, Clifford Glassmeyer, Roy Gherman, Jack McAndrews, George Griffiths, Dan Roberts, Richard Miller, Eleanor Flack, Maurine Flack, William Mealy, Walter Ruzzo, Jean Verburg, Mary Roly, Catherine Garneau, Rose Ann Garneau, Betty Strayer, Carl Rowe, Richard Noble, Bernard Cochran,

REPORTER FINDS INDIANS FRIENDLY

friendly—yes—but not given to interviews—are Indians—or so the reporter found when she tried to start conversation on what promised to be a long and wet ride with the fluid remark: "I guess this is my first ride in a stage coach—with Indians." They considered it, silently but without apparently taking offense.

A few minutes later the reporter again decided to test the sociability of her four swarthy companions, two squaws and two of the sort from which chiefs are made, with the question: "Do any of you speak English?" This was evidently understood and apparently and brought loud and lusty guffaws and three hands pointing simultaneously to the one squaw who could, or would, act in that capacity.

Conversation from them on was brief, three sentences in all (two and one-half of them of the reporter's) until the ride ended at the circus grounds just before "mess."

If you think you've seen all of a circus when you watch the performance under the "big tent"—you're wrong.

Without a doubt you've had the best of everything—particularly if it's a 101 show—but you've "not seen nothing yet." Even the unloading and reloading at early morn and late at night are nothing to seeing these 900 people who make up the circus world at dinner in the circus tent—or nothing to the indescribable feeling obtained from riding in a circus parade.

Plenty of Entertainment

In case you didn't get out for the parade on account of the rain, and are forced to miss the show—here's just a few of the things the thousands of Marionites saw on parade this morning in addition to a week-long reporter only partly concealed under a purple hat and green umbrella—purple pants, cap, riding horses and experienced riders that looked as if they'd been placed from a cradle on a horse, dogs, animals (most of them tucked away from the rain), Indians, Mexicans, Hawaiians, and an "air" calliope, successor to the "steam" calliope which always wound up Marion circus parades in the early days.

What the "big tent" holds in store can only be decided upon a visit to the Drake lot and sight of the mysterious looking tents and animal shows with them's promise for a truly "big show."

And if you think the grounds are wet—take it from a reporter under a purple hat and green umbrella—unless we repeat the flood of 1913 when noon and night—the circus grounds are not wet and the mud only slightly disagreeable, a bit of a difficulty soon forgotten when one is experiencing the treats of a real-for-sure show.

And here's another little tip in case you're "honored" by being asked to ride with Indians in a relic of early America, remember when you're dropped the four feet required to alight with all the grace of the squaw with whom you've been riding, it's no consolation to your injured feelings when the "advance man" tells you Mary Roberts Rinehart was also once "honored."

Daily Proverb—"I am on good terms with the friend who eats his bread with me."

The potato crop of a farmer down near Chillicothe last year averaged 331 bushels and, remarkable as it may seem, he hasn't had a word to say on the subject of farm relief.

English has been substituted for German as the principal foreign language to be taught in the schools of Estonia. It's spreading. In time, all the world will be speaking English.

The danger Indiana runs in boasting about the sixteen-and-a-half-foot cornstalks raised out there is that it's liable to cause the recall of something else they raised out there in recent years.

Possibly he had ample justification for his course at that little social affair out in Venice, but even at that it may be just as well should Tom Mix confine his rough-and-tumble fighting to the screen.

An offer of $100 for a couple willing to be married in a plane at the dedication of the new airport at Bellasgrove, Pennsylvania, today brought twenty-seven entries. What chances people are willing to take for a little money!

The Roman Fascist newspaper, Il Tevere, jeers at the "pacific sincerity" of France, Great Britain and Germany and refers to the Kellogg peace pact to be signed August 27 as "The Great Hypocrisy." Naturally, Mr. Mussolini can't endorse a peace pact. He has to do a little saber-rattling occasionally to keep the enthusiasm of his followers at the proper pitch.

Senator George H. Moses says he found "no active agricultural revolt in the West." Sure not. The farmers out there are too everlastingly busy trying to harvest their bumper crops to waste time and effort starting a revolt for political effect.

It develops that 234 of the 280 members of the new Mexican chamber of deputies are followers of Obregon, the chamber having rejected the credentials of those under the slightest suspicion of entertaining anti-Obregonian convictions. Regardless of any possible agreement between Calles and de la Huerta, the chances that the latter may be made provisional president do not look overly good.

To demonstrate that President Coolidge is a light eater, the American Agriculturist prints a sample presidential breakfast, consisting of a glass of orange juice, a cereal with rich cream, a small helping of scrambled eggs and a strip of bacon, a wheat griddle cake with thin Vermont maple syrup, a pat of sausage, toast and coffee. Great Scott! We would call that a banquet!

Life-Saving Device for Submarines.

Naval submarine and diving experts are experimenting with a device which may prove the means of preventing life loss, in case of accident to submarines in which they are sent to the bottom in water of any ordinary depth.

The device, which is a mouthpiece connected with a bag of oxygen, is the result of experimentation by Lieutenant C. B. Momsen, a submarine and diving expert, who has developed several deep-sea operating devices and has been working on the present device in cooperation with Chief Gunner C. J. Tibbles, one of the foremost diving authorities in the world, and F. M. Hobson, an engineer in the naval bureau of construction. It weighs but two pounds and is so small that one for each member of the crew of a submarine may be kept in each of three "escape" chambers of all the sub-subs vessels we have in commission.

Supplied with these devices, the members of the crew of any submarine meeting with accident could adjust them to their mouths, enter the escape chamber and float to the surface, leaving the raising of their vessel to salvaging operations. The greatest danger to be encountered in the use of the mouthpiece is said to be that the "diver's bends," which often causes death. In order to permit correct decompression and avoid this danger, the three naval men are making their experiments by diving from under a bell and permitting themselves to slide slowly up a rope.

Thus far they have come up from depths ranging from sixty to 100 feet without the slightest discomfort, the experiments at sixty feet having been made without the use of a rope.

The plan of the three is to increase the depth with each succeeding experiment, and they anticipate that they will be able to use the device successfully to a depth of 225 feet.

In case the device proves all that is anticipated and expected, it will mean much for the safety of crews of undersea craft, for the reason that most of the accidents suffered by such craft are in the waters of rivers and in proximity to the shore in seas where the depth does not often reach 225 feet.

Let us hope that the device will prove in every way equal to what is expected of it.

The Case of Dr. Butler.

"Dr. Butler Rejects Hoover's Stand on Prohibition and Naval Program," read a headline in the New York Times, a few days ago, over a letter addressed by the doctor to the editor of that paper in which the doctor says that no candidate of his party for the presidency can commit him or countless others like him to any such doctrines or to any such policies.

It may be well to state that the Dr. Butler referred to is Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, who is somewhat wet, in theory at least, and is rather pacific in his utterances, if not at heart. The doctor is not one of those who favor what has been termed adequate national preparedness. In this respect, he is very reminiscent of the late lamented Colonel William Jennings Bryan, of many sterling and commendable qualities, but who, with them, in some manner acquired the delusion that an army of a million men could be raised and armed over night, as he expressed it, by a stamp of the foot.

It is probably within the recollection of the majority of us that experience demonstrated that the colonel was mistaken. It will be recalled that, using every agency at his command, it took the government something like a year to raise an army of 1,000,000 men, and that it wasn't very well armed at that. Our recollection is that our army had to use French artillery throughout our participation in the war.

Dr. Butler, as was Colonel Bryan in the case mentioned, may be mistaken in his views; but whether or no he may be, they are his views, and he is entitled to them. But it does not necessarily follow that his views are correct or any better than those of any other man of like mentality and experience. Possibly they may not be so good.

Frankly, we have always had a lot of sympathy for college presidents who endeavor to impress their views upon the country, and have never felt unkindly toward them for so doing, even when they have been inclined to carry the giving of what amounts to gratuitous counsel and advice to the extreme. As a rule, they suffer from the handicap of their associations—associations which have a tendency to cause them to estimate their mental perceptions and processes with more than normal generosity. They are so surrounded and looked up to by less-mature and less-developed minds that they are inclined to get a false conception of their own values.

We have sometimes felt that this may be the case with Dr. Butler; he has so often been prone to speak as though his judgment on great national problems were final. If we are right in this regard, let us look upon it, not as an offense, but rather as a misfortune. Many great mentalities have suffered in a similar way in the past, and many suffer in the same way today.

They are hearing "taint signals," again, up in the vicinity of Labrador, this time "possibly from the Greater Rockford." For some reason or other, the hearing of the radio people up there is never so amazingly acute as when a plane is missing.

Here's a new one in athletics. A Berlin mother charges that the woman winner in a tennis match over there had to hypnotize her daughter, the loser, to defeat her, and who has had the winner arrested for hitting her in the eye when she first made the charge. We scarcely hope none of our golfing friends will attempt to use this hypnotic stuff as an alibi.

Count Michael Karolyi has abandoned hope of getting into the United States, and sailed from Mexico for Europe. Sad blow that to the Americans who hoped to gain publicity and a certain degree of social prestige by entertaining him!

The official responsible for the searching of between 3,000 and 4,000 persons on the French liner in New York City now says that the search wasn't instituted to locate liquor, but narcotics and diamonds, which to many will look like a twin brother to the adding of insult to injury.

Gene Tunney has asked Dublin for a quiet reception and, acquiescing in his request, all he will be asked to do is take part in a big parade, hear a few speeches, attend a banquet and respond to a toast and put on a few exhibition rounds with Guard Odriscol, amateur heavyweight champion of the British empire. Isn't being in love and a student of Shakespeare wonderful?

Albania is demonstrating to force the proclaiming of President Zogu as king, and a Roman cable says the first act of the newly-elected assembly when it convenes next month will be to meet the popular demand, which gives us another phase of "self-determination by peoples."

Although they have discussed the matter, Lita Chaplin says, it would be foolish for her to say that she and Roy d'Arcy are going to get married when he gets his final decree of divorce. Some people might hold that it was somewhat indecent for them to discuss the matter at all, so long as neither was free to marry, but possibly they have somewhat different standards out in Hollywood from those generally entertained.

With 190,000 cases of dengue fever in Athens and vicinity to date, the city is suffering a famine in ice, milk and lemons, prime essentials in the treatment of that fever. Athens seems to have departed far from the wisdom which once was hers.

Under a decree, effective September 1, all Peking women under thirty years of age must boil their hair or pay a "degeneracy tax," all men wearing queues must pay a heavy monthly tax and a periodical tax must be paid by all women with bound feet. To be fair to the Peking government, it may be said that the decree is not intended for the purpose of raising revenue, but rather to do away with the feudalistic habits of old which still obtain in many quarters.

The plan of the three is to increase the depth with each succeeding experiment, and they anticipate that they will be able to use the device successfully to a depth of 225 feet.

In case the device proves all that is anticipated and expected, it will mean much for the safety of crews of undersea craft, for the reason that most of the accidents suffered by such craft are in the waters of rivers and in proximity to the shore in seas where the depth does not often reach 225 feet.

Let us hope that the device will prove in every way equal to what is expected of it.

DOG DAYS.

The Mound Builders.

BY GARRETT P. SERVIES.

Wherever you go—city or country, Old world or New—the one thing sure to be pointed out with pride is some relic of antiquity. It may be the oldest inhabitant, or the oldest house or church, or with the maximum of gratification, some monument or ruin of a long-past age, especially interesting if its history has changed to legend, so that it cannot be connected with the world of today.

When our forefathers settled these states they found the red men surrounded with no vestiges of great antiquity, and therefore treated them on the footing of the wild beasts of the wilderness. But after they had been driven from their hunting grounds and to a large degree exterminated, monuments began to be found of what was believed to have been a much older race than that of the Indians, and immediately a deep and respectful interest was developed in the legendary "mound builders," supposed to have inhabited this continent long before the despised red men, and to have developed here a civilization over whose smouldering ruins the savage tribes of hunters had spread like wild brushwood over a fallen forest.

The discoveries in some of the Central states and the Mississippi valley not only of elaborate burial places, but of mysterious and gigantic constructions of earth, apparently having a ceremonial character, like the Great Serpent mound of Ohio, and also the ruins of huge fort-like structures, strengthened the theory of the former existence of some, now extinct, race of men, anterior to the Indians and of a different blood.

This idea was powerfully aided by the natural instinct for mystery. The Indian seemed too recent and too untrained to be the descendant of the men who left such remarkable and imposing marks of their arts, wars and ideas. In some minds the "mound builders" loomed through the past of undiscovered America as impressively as the Homeric hosts through the historical times of Greece. The vanished race was imagined to have developed the working of metal, the art of pottery, and in other ways to have advanced far beyond the mere savagery of the tribes that the white man found trampling upon the forest-hidden memorials of their great but forgotten predecessors.

But, there have always been critics refusing to accept these conclusions, and insisting that there was no satisfactory evidence that the mound builders had been other than the ancestors of the scattered inhabitants that the white settlers encountered on their arrival. And this view receives strong support from the recent discovery at Joliet, Illinois, of a mound filled with the skeletons of Indians, all of which were buried with funeral gifts of European manufacture. Other mounds explored in the same neighborhood have contained two series of burials, the deeper one accompanied by burial ornaments of native origin only and the top one showing European objects. But one particular mound is entirely of post-European age, i.e., subsequent to the coming of the white man. It contains only Indian skeletons, but by the time it was constructed the Indians had begun to substitute the white man's knives, silver crucifixes, brass pots, buttons, pins, and various trinkets, for the harder stone and bone objects made by their fathers. Among those convincing objects was a "combination pocket compass and sun dial in a brass case."

In another mound, the skeletons near the top had been buried lying on their backs, heads west, feet east, indicating the influence of European religious teaching, while at the bottom the skeletons were in a crouching attitude after the aboriginal manner of the Indians. Community Leaders Favor Enlargement of Marion Airport Now, Inquiry Shows

A decided majority of Marion's representative citizens believe that if more land is needed to give the city an airport of adequate size, the additional acreage should be purchased at this time, according to the results of an inquiry made during the last few days. A number of statements obtained in interviews are given below as evidence of the general trend of sentiment:

C. B. King, vice president of the Marion Steam Shovel Co.: "Marion might as well prepare a field for its future needs now. The city should buy an additional space while it can get it at the right price instead of waiting until the need becomes more evident and the cost is much higher."

A. W. Kette, general insurance agent: "Marion should provide now for landing field which will meet the needs of the city for years to come. Now is the time to get one large enough, if we are at it."

John H. Clark, attorney: "I believe the present tract of 104 acres is large enough. It will be many years before the airport outgrows the field."

Hoke Donithen, attorney: "The city should buy the other tract now when the price is right. If the land is not needed it will never be worth any less than it is now."

Fred W. Warner, attorney: "The city should develop the land it has already purchased for the landing field before buying any additional."

Fred E. Guthery, attorney: "If additional land is needed for airport purposes the city has the right of purchasing the additional tract."

A. C. Edmondson, of the Fahey Banking Co.: "I noticed yesterday while driving through several of Marion's neighboring cities that they had airports. Marion should also have an adequate airport as it will help business and be an improvement to the city."

C. E. Merkle, of the Marion Savings Bank Co.: "The time to buy additional land for the airport is at present while the price is comparatively low. If the city is to have an airport at all it should arrange for one that is worth while. Adequate air service in a few years will be just as essential as other means of transportation are at present."

DISTINGUISHED among the late summer fiction is Storm Jameson's unsophisticated story of English life, "Farewell to Youth." Since this British author proved herself with "The Pitiful Wife," each of her succeeding novels has been justly popular with the American reading public.

The newest Jameson novel is the story of a handsome and undiscriminating young Englishman, the woman he loves and marries in boyish confidence, and the woman who offers him a tender understanding and love when his first wife proves a disappointment, and his sad young career, disillusioning.

The heroine is delightful. Utterly unselfish, modest and self-sacrificing, and delightfully attractive in one. "The other woman of the story is her opposite, selfish above all, vain, and greedy. 'Nan,' the hero, is still that a young Englishman should be, just inexperienced and trusting enough to be lovable. His mother and father, who also play important roles in the book, are characters far from negligible. And his old home, 'Saints a' Row,' a traditional influence in the life of his family, also holds a not unimportant place in the novel.

DAY OF FORTUNE" an odyssey of American youth, is the new novel by Norman Matson, brought out last week by the Century Co. In the new book the author traces with patient persistence the life of a young Norwegian girl and her family. It is a novel full of incident with little of the stuff that makes for suspense and continuity.

CHAPTER FORTY

When Frances strolled in Emily asked her time to talk a bit.

"What's wrong, my dear? You look is you'd seen a ghost."

"Maybe I have. I've seen something don't understand. Will you tell me, Frances, why a man who has declared that you're the only thing in his life worth a darn suddenly decides it was a mistake and remains 'yours sincerely'?"

"Ah! There are so many reasons, dear Emily. His digestion, perhaps, or he set of an east wind. Or the cussedness of dress tie—they are fiendish on know—or the turning over of a pressed desire. Or a new face or a voice come back. Or he may be a victim of the Oedipus complex or broke or infected with bunions.

"A woman may take her choice of any mildly insane reasons. But she can't. All women are so incurably magnetic that any one of them will诱惑 for a plot—did you know every woman is a superb fictionist, dear?"

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

TODAY was a drizzle, and it had rained all night, and the world was wet as wet today as it has been dry the rest of the week. It was like a purge that was as full of water as it could hold. And then, just as I started out after breakfast to take the bus out the rain stopped, and there as a double rainbow, and my mother's ant and grandfather came to look it, and my grandfather said it wasn't anything like the rainbows before the war. He said before the war rainbows used to cover the sky and the rain criss-crossed and every direction, so that when a falls looked up, it made him feel like a pup set under a basket. My ant said she noticed his resemblance to a pup, it didn't ever expect him to admit it.

My grandfather said he would admit the truth about anything. He did he would even admit my ant's resemblance to a pelican. And then he did:

He is a wonderful bird is the pelican, he holds more than its beak;

He takes in its beak;

Food enough for a week,

But I'm durned if I see how the hel-

cat."

My ant looked at him and said, "You're utterly disgusting," and my mother told him to please not use swear words around the children. So then all started for the pasture behind the cows, splashing through the puddles having a lot of fun till all at once heard a honk honk and looked and away down the road was a coming along like an express train, and we rushed our cows and got off the road so he could get at it, but Johnnie Griswold's moolie is not quite off the road so the car had to turn out for it and hit the at the side of the road and then rear turned over about three times a pinwheel and came down bottom up in the ditch, and so did the in, and we all thought he was killed, when we got to him he was setting in the water of the ditch and with great gob of clay all over one side his face. He was a little old man with Arkansas whiskers and he said to "My God! See if my other is out!" Feebie asted him was hurt, and he said, "My God, never do that. See what has happened to other eye!" So then Younissed down into the water by the of him and took hold of the plaster clay with both hands way up on his head and peeled it off very slow, there was his other eye twinkling at us all right. He was certainly d. I asted him where he was going, and he said he had got where he's going. And he got up and gave ear one look and started walking back toward town. He was a funny in, I told about it at supper and father said that it was a good one, and then he said to go to bed.

"You're guessing he's the sort?"

"Not guessing. Tell me, now."

So Emily told the story from the beginning. About Marty whom Agnes had chosen for her. About the dislike and something of fear she always had held for the Nolan.

And about what King had said the night on the terrace and her own slowly forming conviction that she might love him sometime.

"It seemed wonderful to have one so devoted. Frances. Always doing the pleasant thing, making me feel of such consequence. I was sure he loved me. So aristocratic in all his ways—blue-blooded!"

"Oh, your fetish. 'Blood will tell.' There never was a baser belief on the work of an intelligent Creator."

"Blood! Blood blue and thin, what does it mean? Elevation, decay; anemia of ambition, rigor of the truth. Chill, fantastic pride; a foolish attitude toward humanity."

"It's warm, red blood that means truth. Life and laughter and love—all red-blooded, little Emily. Wherever you find those, in high places or lowly, you'll know there's rich, red blood running through them. Don't be deceived about that, my dear."

"But—"

"King Coles is a sham—a snob. I'm not saying aristocracy is all wrong; but every good thing has a counterfeit and aristocracy has its own in snobbery. That's where Coles belongs; he has just enough of the real thing to color the spurious. There are many of the sort."

"Whether he loved you or not doesn't matter particularly. If it's any comfort to you I think he did."

"I didn't suspect—if you'd told me how things were going! I'm all to blame and with the best of motives."

She explained the actual circumstances. Emily had been introduced into the salon without explanations; there was an impression that she was an heiress. Coles might love an heiress but the same girl as a wage-earner would not be allowed in his life no matter what his feeling for her.

"Charge it up to experience and let it go. But be sure you let it go. Cover your sweetness if you don't."

"It's not what happens to us from the outside that counts; it's what we let inside that stirs up trouble. And don't hold it against me, Emily."

"As if I could!" She gave the older woman a look full of affection but shakily little movements went about her lips. "I'll let it go—take care of that."

But in the evening when she led Ragged out for a walk up toward North Mountain she realized that she was struggling, rather, to let it go.

It wasn't that she cared for Coles, really, or that she wished him back. But she kept remembering things her father had said about his kind; silly, little ill-natured things which now jumped out to torment her, challenging her to deny them truth.

A few times she had felt twinges of this; nothing more than questions rising, when she walked on the River road as to why some should have so much and others, like herself, so little.

Now the questions centered about Coles, tempting her. He could make love to her, ask her to marry him, and dash it all away when he found she was not the heiress he had thought her.

How did he know she wasn't like a fool with him, breaking her heart as Stella had broken hers when Skeets threw her over? Why did men like Coles and Skeets have the right to do this to girls not of their class?

Bitterness oppressed her; in that moment she was very near to slipping into the unsophistry that had dominated and victimized Steve Day.

But she thought, all at once, of Frances, tempting her. He could make love to her, ask her to marry him, and dash it all away when he found she was not the heiress he had thought her.
